

INVERTROSSACHS SCOUT CENTRE

Attention all water users

Classification of Water

The Scout Association classifies Loch Venachar as B2 waters generally. However, the bay on which the scout centre is located has been re-classified as B1 waters and therefore a person holding a B1 permit can operate within the limit shown on the map below, between 1st April and 30th September.

The B1 limit extends in a straight, east-west line from point A, the headland Tom Eoghainn, 550 metres to the west of the centre, to point B, the shoreline directly below the large house at West Dullater, 450 metres to the east of the centre.

The limit will normally be marked with a couple of yellow marker buoys, but be aware that these may be out of position, or missing, if tampered with.

June 2017

(Image is from an 1899 map of Loch Venachar showing the depth of the loch in feet)

